STOCKS REBOUND ON BIG BUYING

"War Brides" in Strong Position at End of the Session.

RAILROADS IN DEMAND

Report of Hitch in Arrangements for Loan Fails to Shake Confidence of Traders.

New York, Oct. 7.—With speculative accounts more heavily margined than ever before and holders of stocks unwilling to part with them, the inevitable happened in the stock market today. Prices responded with sharp advances to the flood of buying orders induced by the large decline that occurred in the previous two sessions.

Reports that there had been an eleven-hour hitch in the Anglo-French loan failed to excite any selling worth mentioning so that the over-accumulation of buying orders dominated at the beginning of trading and was reflected with advances of from 2 to 4 points in the war shares.

RAILROADS IN DEMAND

At the close of business a canvass of several commission houses revealed that although had been buyers on balance, railroad shares were in good demand, although the buying in this group is not extensive.

Consolidated Gas surprised the Street in general by suddenly becoming active and advancing 6 1/2 points. For an investment of this stock is considered one of the best of the industrial list.

bination were given as the reason for the strength of the stock. Notwithstanding the severe decline in the "war brides," the banks continue to discriminate against them. One institution today would not accept Bethlehem Steel common or Crucible Steel common, while Studebaker, which was selling around 142, was taken at par with a margin of 25 per cent.

EXCHANGE SESSION DULL

Twenty Shares of Lanston Monotype Bring 80 1/2.

The session of the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday was extremely dull. A $1,000,000 Washington Railway and Electric 4 was sold at 131 1/2. Ten shares of Mergenthaler Linotype were transferred at 188, two points below the recently prevailing price. The quotation bill dropped a point to 185.

Three shares of Lanston Monotype were disposed of at 80 and twenty shares changed hands at 80 1/2. Inquiries were made by brokers for options on 100-share lots. Five shares of Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company sold at 155.

A smoker and get-together meeting will be held by the Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Banking next Thursday night at the chapter rooms, 1234 F street northwest.

COTTON MARKETS

New York, Oct. 7.—Cotton moved irregularly today, suffering a sharp decline in the late hour, closing at a net loss of eight to eleven points. The market was quiet at the beginning of the day, with a few scattered orders for spot and futures.

At the outside price, three points lower to one point higher. Selling was scattered. After the close, a few orders for spot and futures were received, with a subsidence of the market.

Spot rice was quiet at an advance of ten points to 12 1/2. There were no sales. Spot at Liverpool was in good demand at a decline of six points to the basis of 1 1/2, for middling upland. Futures declined heavily, steady at a net decline of four and a half to seven points.

LIVERPOOL

At the close of business a canvass of several commission houses revealed that although had been buyers on balance, railroad shares were in good demand, although the buying in this group is not extensive.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Wheat futures had a setback today, closing 1/2 to 3/4 cents lower. The market stood up well considering the pressure. There was a slight decline in the price of wheat, but it was not enough to cause a general decline.

The chief depressing influence was the weakness displayed by the northwest markets, which in turn depressed the market here. The market was quiet at the beginning of the day, with a few scattered orders for spot and futures.

At the outside price, three points lower to one point higher. Selling was scattered. After the close, a few orders for spot and futures were received, with a subsidence of the market.
